Renaissance Health Care Awarded Full Accreditation from NCQA and URAC, and Announces Company Name Change to KidneyTel®

Waltham, MA – Renaissance Health Care, Inc. (Renaissance) today announced that the National Committee on Quality Assurance (NCQA) has awarded to Renaissance “Full Accreditation Patient and Practitioner Oriented Disease Management for Chronic Kidney Disease”. Renaissance also announces that it has received Certification of “Full Accreditation for compliance with Disease Management Standards”, from the Utilization Review Accreditation Committee (URAC) covering the condition of Chronic Kidney Disease.

Renaissance’s President, Robert Farrell, commented, “Renaissance Health Care is very proud to receive full accreditation from these two prestigious accrediting bodies; these accreditations are a validation of the continuous quality improvements in technology, care integration processes, and evidence based medicine policies that Renaissance has put in place to improve the lives of patients with Chronic Kidney Disease. In coordination with the upcoming launch of our new TeleHealth monitoring technology to provide care every day for the kidney patient, Renaissance is changing its name and will now do business as KidneyTel®.”
